The Story of Renewal

strongly business-regarding the work climate in our company. I want to thank those who have helped us to reach these goals. We are proud of our success in making a secure working environment a reality for everybody. This approach is helping our ongoing expansion of production. Our plants are increasing their production capacity to the same extent as demand and production. This is based on traditional values, based on the company's long-term perspective. The company's mission is, according to our motto, "to grow things and produce—first and foremost in value, material, customer and personnel. What will you make today?"

intellectual property has become a key element of the Japanese economic strategy. In the 1980s, Japan's trademark, copyright, and patent laws were tightened, forcing foreign firms to invest in Japan to protect their intellectual property. Japan's Copyright Law, Patent Law, and Trademark Law, which were revised in 1986, 1987, and 1988, respectively, were widely praised for strengthening intellectual property protection. These laws were also praised for their clarity and simplicity. The Japanese government has also been active in promoting intellectual property protection through various measures, such as the establishment of the Japan Patent Office and the Japan Copyright Commission.
